

Judit Kis-Halas, PhD is Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellow at the Department of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology at the University of Ljubljana. Her project is Wise Women: Beliefs and Networks of Female Spiritual Figures in Central European Vernacular Religion (H2020-MSCA 898740). She is research fellow in the Popular Religion, Folk Belief, Mentalities in the 16–21th centuries: Digital Databases and Encyclopaedic Syntheses (NKFI Nr. 132535) project at the Institute of Ethnology, Research Centre for the Humanities, Eötvös Loránt Research Network, Budapest (Hungary) Between 2013-18 she was research fellow in the ERC project Vernacular religion on the boundary of Eastern and Western Christianity: continuity, changes and interactions (№ 324214) at the Institute of Ethnology of the HAS, Budapest. Between 2012-14 she was lecturer at the department of Estonian and Comparative Foklore at the University of Tartu (Estonia).

Her research interests include popular magic and healing, vernacular and lived religion, the cult of the Virgin Mary, western esotericism, alternative spiritualities, early modern and contemporary European witchcraft, early modern and modern medicine, alternative and complementary medical practices.

She is the author of the monograph Boszorkányok, gyógyítók és a gyűdi Szűz Mária: az orvoslás rendszerei az újkori Dél-Dunántúlon (2020).

Her publications include:

2020: „I was Angry with the Angels for F*cking me Over.” Angel-cult and UFO-religion in Hungary. In Éva Pócs–Bea Vidacs (eds.): Faith, Doubt and Knowledge in Religious Thinking. Budapest: Balassi, 327–352.

2019: From the Lady of the Two Springs to the Rosary Route. In Ágnes Hesz–Éva Pócs (eds.): Present and Past. Contemporary and Historical Perspectives in the Anthropological Study of Religious Life. Budapest: Balassi, 91–110.

2019: Soldiers of Christ on Earth and in Heavenly Jerusalem.: Psychotronics: A Contemporary Esoteric Healing System. In Éva Pócs (ed.): The Magical and Sacred Medical World. Cambridge, UK: Cambridge Scholars Publishing, 448–493.

2019: Sacred Sites Reinterpreted: New Age Phenomena at a Hungarian Marian Shrine. In Tatiana Zachar Podolinská (ed.): Traces of the Virgin Mary in Post-communist Europe. Bratislava: Veda, 56–75.

2018: Pilgrims on the Rosary Route. Material Religion 14(1), 148–152.

2017: Divinatio Diabolica and Superstitious Medicine: Healers, Seers and Diviners in the Changing Discourse of Witchcraft in Early Modern Nagybánya. In Gábor Klaniczay – Éva Pócs (eds.): Witchcraft and Demonology in Hungary and Transylvania. London: Palgrave Macmillan, 159–219.

2013: “This child here won’t shed tears of dreadful fright, ’cause he’s not caught by Devil’s might”. Change and Stability of Charms against Fright-illness: a Hungarian Perspective. Incantatio 3, 100–138.

For further publications and research news see the project website: <https://etnologija.ff.uni-lj.si/en/node/94003>